Jerry, I had a good conversation with the police who emphasized more than anything else keeping young people busy. Similarly, the crime lab's Joyce sponsored project includes a split between services and sports.

I just met with Dr. Arnold who interestingly has a martial arts program operating in 12 Chicago schools which looks like an important component for our plan and fits well w/the crime lab approach.

Also I had breakfast with Malcolm who amazes me with his background, he is a great addition to the violence prevention commission.

Finally, in our current fiscal climate I'm not sure what constitutes an emergency but Michelle has an office with bugs and IYC St Charles has a leaking roof.

That's all the news from Lake Woebegone.
