Attached is some suggested language changes on the merger. This allows us to avoid having to ask for a supplemental in addition to the bill. Let me know if you want to discuss.

It would require another amendment, so we would need to work with Leg Affairs. If the intent is to have CJIA take over IVPA's functions immediately, as it appears based on the effective date of sam1, CJIA would not be able to spend from its new fund in FY13 absent a supplemental. If the existing fund is merely redesignated as a CJIA fund, then the existing FY13 Violence Prevention Fund approps would become available to CJIA – without any further legislative action – based on subsection (d) of the new Section 20 ILCS 3930/10.1 created by this bill.

We could therefore make a case that it makes sense operationally for the existing fund to be retained and redesignated, instead of replacing the existing fund with a new one. It's a stronger argument than the fact that sam1 unnecessarily creates a new fund.
