Hello all,
Per our conversation on Friday, attached are three documents:

1. An excel spreadsheet listing the numbers of youth currently on parole by Chicago community area (as well as other towns surrounding the city)
2. A word document containing (a) maps by community of youth currently on parole as well as those who began parole in the last 90 days, (b) a graph illustrating the percentages of youth (of the 400 we assessed using the CANS) who met our criteria for a variety of different services.
3. A table detailing the costs/benefits of a variety of different evidence-based approaches to reducing recidivism, taken from Greenwood, P. (2008). Prevention and Intervention Programs for Juvenile Offenders. The Future of Children, 18, 2, 185-210.

I'm awaiting more information on the incidence of re-offending by age, hopefully will have that to you by later today.
Talk to you soon -
Dana
