8 employment practices in the State of Mississippi; in 1973, he 9 was one of the lawyers that filed the historic case of Ayers
10 vs. Mississippi which ultimately led to the desegregation of 11 institutions of higher learning in the United States after 12 reaching the United States Supreme Court; between 1974 and 13 1976, he was on the cutting edge of filing more than six 14 lawsuits against county jails in the State of Mississippi for 15 inhumane conditions and the treatment of their inmates; and

16 WHEREAS, Lewis Myers was involved in numerous historic 17 cases, including the case of New Jersey vs. Joanne Chesmard
18 a/k/a Assata Shakur-mother of Tupac Shakur, the United States
19 vs. Rene Leon, and the Elmer "Geronimo" Pratt case; he served 20 as counsel for seven young boys who were expelled from the 21 Decatur public schools after a fight at a football game; and

22 WHEREAS, Lewis Myers served as general counsel for several 23 national civil rights leaders, including Minister Louis

1 Farrakhan, Rev. Jesse L. Jackson, and Rev. Al Sharpton; he 2 served as chief operating officer and the national deputy 3 director of the NAACP in Baltimore; in August of 1993, he 4 served as national deputy coordinator of the historic 30th
5 anniversary for the March on Washington; and

6 WHEREAS, Lewis Myers was one of the top litigation lawyers
7 in the Chicago area; he taught Evidence and Trial Advocacy as 8 an adjunct professor at DePaul University's School of Law in 9 Chicago; he taught at several Chicago City Colleges and served
10 as director of the Criminal Justice Program at Kennedy King 11 College; he was also a professor teaching Criminal Justice at 12 Chicago State University; and

13 WHEREAS, Lewis Myers was a member of the Illinois Bar, the 14 Bar of the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, the Bar of the 15 Federal Appellate Court for the Third Circuit, the Bar for the 16 Federal Appellate Court for the Fifth Circuit, the Bar of the 17 United States Federal District Court for the Northern District
