4 regime, a democratically elected government emerged in 5 Afghanistan; and

6 WHEREAS, The President of the United States and members of 7 the United States government, utilizing faulty and unreliable
8 intelligence, redirected United States military resources from 9 pursuing Osama bin Laden and the leaders of the al Qaeda
10 terrorist network in Afghanistan to an invasion of the country
11 of Iraq, though the government of Iraq had no responsibility
12 for the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, and harbored
13 neither Osama bin Laden nor the leadership of the al Qaeda 14 terrorist network; and

15 WHEREAS, The United States Armed Forces are now engaged in 16 a protracted occupation of the country of Iraq that began in 17 2003; and

11 WHEREAS, On January 10, 2007, President George W. Bush

1 financial hardship for individuals, families, and businesses;
2 interruption of careers; and damage to the fabric of civic life
3 in our communities; and

4 WHEREAS, An escalated, open-ended commitment of United 5 States military forces in Iraq is unsustainable and serves as a

7 military leadership and providing Iraqi personnel and 8 resources required to end sectarian violence; and

9 WHEREAS, The continued redirection of United States
10 military resources away from the pursuit of Osama bin Laden and

22 education, health care, housing, nutrition, and other domestic

1 social services, along with international humanitarian aid;
2 and

3 WHEREAS, Prior appropriations made by the United States
4 Congress have prioritized operations in Iraq, resulting in cuts
5 to critical financial assistance to states, including the State
6 of Illinois, and have increased the gross debt and compounded
7 interest of the United States, which leads to additional cuts 8 in funding for critical needs in the states; and

9 WHEREAS, The United States Congress has broad authority and 10 a long tradition of limiting military escalation by placing 11 budgetary limitations on such escalation, utilizing power
12 granted by the Constitution of the United States of America;
