1 AMENDMENT TO SENATE BILL 121

2 AMENDMENT NO. _____. Amend Senate Bill 121 by replacing 3 everything after the enacting clause with the following:

4 "Section 5. The Illinois African-American Family
5 Commission Act is amended by changing Sections 5, 15, 20, and 6 25 as follows:

7 (20 ILCS 3903/5)

8 Sec. 5. Legislative findings. It is the policy of this 9 State to promote family preservation and to preserve and 10 strengthen families.

11 (a) Over 12 million people live in Illinois.
12 African-Americans represent 15% of the population and 26% of 13 the residents living in Cook County. Despite some progress over 14 the last few decades, African-Americans in Illinois continue to 15 lag behind other racial groups relative to indicators of 16 well-being in education, employment, income, and health.

1 According to the 2000 U.S. Census, just 26% of the 2 African-American population over 25 years of age in Illinois
3 completed their high school education; 6% held an associate's 4 degree; less than 10% (9%) held a bachelor's degree; less than 5 5% (3%) held a master's degree; and less than one percent held 6 either a professional (.8%) or doctoral (.4%) degree.

7 These levels of education attainment reflect more
8 fundamental problems with retaining African-Americans in 9 school. The Illinois State Board of Education reported that for 10 the 2001-2002 school year, 36,373, or 6%, of students enrolled 11 in public high schools dropped out. Thirty-nine percent of 12 these students were African-Americans; 38% were White; 21% were 13 Hispanic; and 2% were classified as Other.

14 Although African-Americans make up 18% of the high school
15 population, they are disproportionately represented in the 16 number of students who are suspended and expelled. In the 17 2001-2002 school year, 29,068 students were suspended from 18 school. Forty-seven percent were White, 37% were 19 African-American, 14% were Hispanic, and 1% were classified as 20 Other. In regards to expulsions Statewide, the total number of 21 high school students expelled was 1,651. Forty-three percent 22 were African-American, 41% were White, 14% were Hispanic, and 23 2% were classified as Other. Within Chicago public schools, 448
24 students were expelled. Seventy-seven of these students were 25 African-American; 27% were White; 14% were Hispanic; and 4% 26 were classified as Other. The fact that African-Americans are

1 more likely to be suspended or expelled from school also 2 contributes to the high dropout rate among African-American 3 high school students.

4 In addition to educational challenges, African-Americans
5 face challenges in the areas of employment and income. In the 6 year 2000, the unemployment rate for African-Americans age 16
7 years or older was 15% compared to only 6% for the total
8 Illinois population. Moreover, the median household income of 9 African-Americans in Illinois was $31,699 compared to $46,590
10 for the total Illinois population, and the percentage of 11 African-American families below the poverty level in Illinois
12 was 26% percent in 1999 compared to 10.7% for the total 13 Illinois population in that same year.

14 Indicators of child welfare and criminal justice reveal
15 still more challenges that African-American families face in 16 Illinois. In 2000, African-American children represented 18%
17 of children 18 years of age and under, but comprised 73% of 18 children in substitute care. African-Americans are also 19 overrepresented in the criminal justice population. Of the 20 total Illinois adult inmate population in the year 2000, 65%
21 were African-American. During this same time period,
22 African-American youth represented 58% of the juvenile inmate
23 population in Illinois.

24 While the leading causes of death among African-Americans
25 are the same as those for the general population in Illinois,
26 African-Americans have a higher rate of death per 100,000

1 residents. The rate of overall deaths per 100,000 residents
2 among African-Americans in the year 2000 was 1,181; 847 for
3 Whites; and 411 for those classified as Other. The rate of 4 cancer-related deaths per 100,000 residents by racial or ethnic 5 groups in 2000 was: 278 African-Americans; 206 Whites; and 110
6 of those classified as Other. The rate of diabetes-related 7 deaths per 100,000 residents among African-Americans in 2000 8 was 41 compared to 23 for Whites and 13 for those classified as 9 Other. The rate of deaths per 100,000 residents by heart
10 disease among African-Americans in 2000 was 352 compared to 257 11 for Whites and 120 for those classified as Other. The rate of 12 deaths per 100,000 residents by stroke among African-Americans 13 in 2000 was 75; 60 for Whites; and 35 for those classified as 14 Other.

15 African-Americans had higher rates of smoking and obesity
16 than other racial groups in Illinois in 2001. African-Americans
17 accounted for more of the new adult/adolescent AIDS cases,
18 cumulative adult/adolescent AIDS cases, and number of people
19 living with AIDS than other racial groups in Illinois in the 20 year 2002. Still, 23% of uninsured persons in Illinois are 21 African-American.

22 (b) The Illinois African-American Family Commission
23 continues to be an essential key to promoting the preservation 24 and strengthening of families. As of the effective date of this 25 amendatory Act of the 98th General Assembly, just under 13
26 million people live in Illinois. African-Americans represent

1 15% of the population and 25% of the residents living in Cook
2 County. Despite some progress over the last few decades, 3 African-Americans in Illinois continue to lag behind other 4 racial groups relative to indicators of well-being in 5 education, employment, income, and health. According to the 6 2010 federal decennial census: just 28% of the African-American 7 population over 25 years of age in Illinois completed their 8 high school education; 36% had some college or an associate's
9 degree; less than 12% held a bachelor's degree; less than 8%
10 held either a graduate or professional degree.

11 These levels of education attainment reflect more
12 fundamental problems with retaining African-Americans in 13 school. The State Board of Education reported that for the 14 2010-2011 school year, 18,210, or 2.77%, of students enrolled 15 in public high schools dropped out. 39.3% of these students 16 were African-Americans; 32.6% were White; 24.2% were Hispanic; 17 and 2% were classified as Other.

18 Although African-Americans make up 20% of the high school
19 population, they are disproportionately represented in the 20 number of students who are suspended and expelled. In the 21 2011-2012 school year, 29,928 students were suspended from 22 school. 36% were White, 34% were African-American, 26% were 23 Hispanic, and 4% were classified as Other. With regard to 24 expulsions statewide, the total number of high school students 25 expelled was 982. 37% were African-American, 41% were White, 26 21% were Hispanic, and 2% were classified as Other. Within

1 Chicago public schools, 294 students were expelled. 80% of 2 these students were African-American; none were White; 17% were 3 Hispanic; and 3% were classified as Other. The fact that 4 African-Americans are more likely to be suspended or expelled 5 from school also contributes to the high dropout rate among 6 African-American high school students.

7 In addition to educational challenges, African-Americans
8 face challenges in the areas of employment and income. In the
9 year 2010, the unemployment rate for African-Americans age 16
10 years or older was 16% compared to only 9% for the total
11 Illinois population. Moreover, the median household income of
12 African-Americans in Illinois was $34,874 compared to $60,433
13 for the total Illinois population, and the percentage of 14 African-American families below the poverty level in Illinois
15 was 32% percent in 2012 compared to 15% for the total Illinois
16 population in that same year.

17 Indicators of child welfare and criminal justice reveal
18 still more challenges that African-American families face in
19 Illinois. In 2010, African-American children represented 14%
20 of children 18 years of age and under, but comprised 56% of 21 children in substitute care. African-Americans are also 22 overrepresented in the criminal justice population. Of the 23 total Illinois adult inmate population in the year 2012, 57%
24 were African-American. During this same time period,
25 African-American youth represented 66% of the juvenile inmate
26 population in Illinois.

1 While the leading causes of death among African-Americans
2 are the same as those for the general population in Illinois,
3 African-Americans have a higher rate of death per 100,000
4 residents. The rate of overall deaths per 100,000 residents
5 among African-Americans in the year 2010 was 898; 741 for 6 Whites; and 458 for those classified as Other. The rate of 7 cancer-related deaths per 100,000 residents by racial or ethnic 8 groups in 2010 was 216 for African-Americans; 179 for Whites; 9 and 124 for those classified as Other. The rate of 10 diabetes-related deaths per 100,000 residents among 11 African-Americans in 2010 was 114 compared to 66 for Whites and 12 75 for those classified as Other. The rate of deaths per 13 100,000 residents by heart disease among African-Americans in 14 2010 was 232 compared to 179 for Whites and 121 for those 15 classified as Other. The rate of deaths per 100,000 residents 16 by stroke among African-Americans in 2010 was 108; 73 for 17 Whites; and 56 for those classified as Other.

18 African-Americans had higher rates of smoking and obesity
19 than other racial groups in Illinois in 2013. African-Americans
20 accounted for more of the new adult/adolescent AIDS cases,
21 cumulative adult/adolescent AIDS cases, and number of people
22 living with AIDS than other racial groups in Illinois in the 23 year 2013. Still, 24% of uninsured persons in Illinois are 24 African-American.

25 (c) These huge disparities in education, employment, 26 income, child welfare, criminal justice, and health

1 demonstrate the tremendous challenges facing the 2 African-American family in Illinois. These challenges are 3 severe. There is a need for government, child and family
4 advocates, and other key stakeholders to create and implement 5 public policies to address the health and social crises facing 6 African-American families. The development of given solutions
7 clearly transcends any one State agency and requires a 8 coordinated effort. The Illinois African-American Family
9 Commission shall assist State agencies with this task.

10 The African-American Family Commission was created in 11 October 1994 by Executive Order to assist the Illinois 12 Department of Children and Family Services in developing and 13 implementing programs and public policies that affect the 14 State's child welfare system. The Commission has a proven track 15 record of bringing State agencies, community providers, and 16 consumers together to address child welfare issues. The ability 17 of the Commission to address the above-mentioned health issues, 18 community factors, and the personal well-being of 19 African-American families and children has been limited due to 20 the Executive Order's focus on child welfare. It is apparent 21 that broader issues of health, mental health, criminal justice, 22 education, and economic development also directly affect the 23 health and well-being of African-American families and 24 children. Accordingly, the role of the Illinois 25 African-American Family Commission is hereby expanded to 26 encompass working relationships with every department, agency,

1 and commission within State government if any of its activities 2 impact African-American children and families. The focus of the 3 Commission is hereby restructured and shall exist by 4 legislative mandate to engage State agencies in its efforts to 5 preserve and strengthen African-American families.
