LETTER FROM ACTING DIRECTOR ROBERT VICKERY

Dear Colleagues and Partners,

As 2024 comes to a close and we look forward to a new year, I appreciate the opportunity to submit the Illinois Department of Juvenile Justice's Annual Report. While there were plenty of challenges in 2024, we also have many successes and accomplishments that are worthy of celebration. I hope this report will illuminate both.

In early 2024, IDJJ celebrated the grand opening of the Phoenix Emerging Adult Career & Education Center (PEACE) Center at St. Charles. The PEACE Center is exclusively serving the needs of high school graduates, with programming tailored to the unique needs of 18 to 21-year-olds. Additionally, IDJJ's legislation allowing specified young adults in the custody of the Department of Corrections to be transferred to IDJJ for high school educational services was passed and signed into law last spring. This allowed us to begin to make plans to repurpose our Harrisburg Youth Center to serve these individuals in mid to late 2025.

Tremendous progress was made this year toward opening the new Monarch Youth Center in Lincoln. Construction is moving along according to schedule. Throughout the summer and fall, IDJJ began to recruit staff for the new youth center. This new trauma-informed campus will allow youth from central Illinois to be housed closer to their families and communities.

A major challenge of 2024 was the significant fire at the Warrenville campus over the summer. This event necessitated the relocation of youth and staff and presented a number of challenges, but I am so encouraged by the dedication and resourcefulness shown by IDJJ staff and the resiliency of youth.

Another accomplishment worth noting in 2024 is the buildout of IDJJ's Community Services Division. I am especially proud of the work we are doing to establish a framework for survivor supports and services.

I hope you will take the time to carefully read through the following pages, noting the significance of the Department's work and the many individuals inside and outside the agency that contribute to that work.

Sincerely,
Robert Vickery
Acting Director

ABOUT IDJJ

The Illinois Department of Juvenile Justice (IDJJ) houses and provides services to youth committed to the Department's custody and assists them in transitioning back into the community. IDJJ does not serve youth who are in temporary detention awaiting adjudication, as those are managed at the county level through Juvenile Detention Centers.

Formerly part of the Illinois Department of Corrections (DOC), IDJJ was created by statute in 2006 as an independent agency with the understanding that youth are physically, emotionally, and cognitively different from adults and should be treated in a developmentally appropriate manner. IDJJ provides comprehensive rehabilitative services to youth who are committed to the custody of IDJJ, and upon release, in transitioning young people back into the community through Aftercare.

Fiscal Year 2024 statistics:

- Average age of youth in IDJJ facilities: 17.5 years
- Average age of youth under Aftercare supervision in the community: 18.0 years.
- The average length of stay for youth IDJJ custody: 5.8 months

At the end of November 2024, 188 youth were in IDJJ secure custody and 264 youth were being monitored and supported on Aftercare in communities throughout the state.

POPULATION

IDJJ serves and houses youth who are committed to state custody through juvenile court proceedings, and also houses a smaller number of individuals who are convicted as adults in criminal court who are also under age 18 when sentenced to DOC. A young person may be committed to IDJJ under the Illinois Juvenile Court Act if they are at least 13 years of age and under 20 years of age if adjudicated for a felony offense or first degree murder. Most youth are committed to IDJJ for an indeterminate sentence until the age of 21, which means that they do not have a required minimum sentence to complete, rather release is contingent on program completion and established reentry plans. Since the early 2000s, there has been a national downward trend in juvenile justice system populations. IDJJ's population has declined similarly, with more significant decreases in recent years due to a focused statewide effort to reduce the use of secure confinement for youth. From a peak of 2174 youth in 1999, the daily number of youth in custody has decreased by over 90%.

TRANSFORMATION UPDATE

In partnership with Lt. Governor Stratton’s Justice, Equity, and Opportunity Initiative (JEO), IDJJ utilized decades of evidence from across the country, and within its own system, to create a plan with the goal of achieving meaningful transformation, better youth outcomes, and increased community safety. The 21st Century Illinois Transformation Plan launched in July 2020, and IDJJ has worked diligently to fulfill its commitment to reduce the harm of incarceration by divesting from the adult prison model, creating a restorative close-to-home model, and building a continuum of care in the community. One of the key initiatives of the Transformation Plan is to invest significantly in intervention and therapeutic services for justice-involved youth. See the chart below for the latest details on Transformation progress.

Additionally, in this program IDOC youth may be transferred to IDJJ facilities to receive holistic services, including education and vocational training.

Bill Number: HB5431

Description: This law prohibits the use of security restraints in correction settings on a committed person who is pregnant or in postpartum recovery.

Bill Number: *SB3615

Bill Number: SB3463

Description: This law requires that a date for an automatic expungement order be scheduled by the Juvenile Court judge on the date that the court orders the minor be committed to the Department of Juvenile Justice.

Bill Number: HB4623

Description: This bill amends several Illinois laws to address issues related to sexually explicit digital images and depictions. It also amends the Criminal Code of 2012 to define the new offenses of "obscene depiction of a purported child" and "non-consensual dissemination of sexually explicit digitized depictions", and provides criminal penalties for these offenses.

CONSENT DECREE PROGRESS 2024

HISTORY

In 2012, a lawsuit was filed alleging that certain IDJJ conditions and services violated the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution and the federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act. Specifically, the complaint addressed various aspects of IDJJ's mental health services, general and special education services, and other practices affecting the general safety and welfare of the youth in IDJJ custody.

To address the allegations of the lawsuit, the court approved a consent decree that required IDJJ to improve conditions and services. A consent decree is an agreement between parties of a case that establishes a detailed plan of action that is enforceable by the court. In the case of the RJ Consent Decree, a Remedial Plan was created which required sustainable reforms to the Department's policies, practices, and services to youth. The court also appointed independent experts to monitor IDJJ's efforts to comply with the requirements of the Remedial Plan. Each year, the monitors file reports with their compliance findings and recommendations.

In 2022, IDJJ achieved substantial compliance in all areas of the remedial plans for mental health and general welfare and safety, monitoring only continued for education-related areas.. In 2023, IDJJ continued to make progress on the remedial plan for education by addressing staffing shortages and setting up and providing the compensatory education services that were ordered in 2022.

In 2024, compensatory educational services were expanded to include tutoring for high school graduates at multiple facilities. High school graduates who are enrolled in financial literacy, career exploration, or construction courses have access to Literary Volunteers of Illinois (LVI) tutors. Additionally, qualified high school students at IYC Chicago have access to tutors for multiple subjects four days per week. IDJJ looks forward to fully meeting all consent decree requirements needed for exit in the near future.

STAFFING UPDATE 2024

One of IDJJ's top priorities continues to be onboarding the necessary personnel to fully separate from the Shared Services Model. Developing the infrastructure to function as a stand-alone agency is necessary to help IDJJ successfully exit consent decree litigation and ensure a healthy and supportive workplace for staff and youth in our care. Establishing a fully functioning, independent HR team is absolutely critical at a time when juvenile justice and child services agencies across the country face a staffing crisis.

IDJJ staff continues to enhance recruitment strategies, specifically to target hard-to-fill roles, like security and education, to include an improved Juvenile Justice Specialist Intern screening process, Handshake/IASA job bank online presence, and increased career fair participation. Additionally, the HR team will continue its' focus on streamlining archaic processes, optimizing the use of technology, and enhancing employee engagement and retention.

In 2024, IDJJ added several more positions to the HR team to expedite the hiring and onboarding process and to serve staff more effectively with leaves and benefits information.

Like our sister agencies in Illinois and around the country, IDJJ expects staff shortages to continue to be a challenge in 2025 and beyond. However, a strong HR Department, and strong agency leadership make us much better equipped to respond to and plan for the changing workforce landscape.

STAFF TRAINING UPDATE- 2024

The Illinois Department of Juvenile Justice training department focuses on onboarding training for new employees, annual training for existing employees, and specialty trainings. Onboarding training for new employees occurs quarterly in the form of a week-long training for new non-security staff and a six-week academy for all new juvenile justice specialists. This year IDJJ graduated 64 Juvenile Justice Specialist interns, with 22 interns in the final class of the year.

September 2024 Juvenile Justice Specialist Intern Academy Graduates

Through annual training IDJJ provides all requisite trainings, but it also offers opportunities to introduce new topics, such as training on family engagement and restorative justice. Annual training topics, which are skill-focused, are updated yearly with new trainings added to keep the training relevant and the staff engaged. The quality of annual training has also resulted in an exemption from the state's required online cultural competency and LGBTQIA+ training, instead allowing the Department to utilize its own cultural responsiveness and LGBTQI trainings to meet the requirement. Training remains an active partner in the Department's efforts toward becoming trauma-informed, including the implementation of Trust Based Relational Intervention (TBRI). Comprehensive and ongoing training at all levels of IDJJ is vital to the success of staff and youth.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 2025

Monarch Youth Center in Lincoln

In the spring of 2025, IDJJ anticipates the opening of the new Monarch Youth Center in Lincoln, Illinois. Monarch will allow youth from central Illinois who are in secure custody of the state to remain closer to their communities and families. This youth center is designed to be trauma-informed, therapeutic, rehabilitative, and dorm-like in order to reduce the harm of incarceration and implement best practices in juvenile justice. IDJJ has already begun the process of recruitment and interviewing staff for this new youth center.

Repurposing IYC Harrisburg for emerging adults

Senate Bill 426, passed in spring of 2024, allows 18-22 year-olds in IDOC custody to be transferred to IDJJ for the purpose of receiving high school educational services and emerging adult programming. In 2025, following the opening of the Monarch Youth Center in Lincoln, IDJJ will begin to repurpose and reprogram the Harrisburg facility to exclusively serve this new young adult population. The structure and programming of the facility will be modeled after IDJJ's PEACE Center at St. Charles, which opened as a repurposed IDJJ facility for emerging adults in early 2024.

Final Words

IDJJ is grateful to the staff, families, advocates, volunteers, and community partners that have contributed to the accomplishments of the Department in 2024. The work of building youth skills, strengthening families, and promoting safe communities and positive youth outcomes cannot be achieved without the dedication of our many faithful partners. IDJJ looks forward to continued partnerships in 2025 that serve the best interests of justice-involved youth and families in Illinois.
